

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

1980-81 Montreal, Que.

John W. O'Brien, Rector and Vice-Chancellor

When you look at this book ten or fifteen years from now you will recall familiar faces and highlights of your university years. You will also recognize many who will have become prominent in a variety of fields. In time, you may hardly recognize yourselves in the image of today although appearances and job titles can be misleading, disguising qualities of character that carry from one period to another.

At university, essential elements of character form patterns as you assess the future and develop the analytical tools needed to pursue goals you have set for yourself. The type of education you have chosen and your decision to become members of the Concordia community have a natural impact on your makeup. If your generation follows tradition, you too will play roles in shaping society and so it is worth asking if there are any qualities of character which may be described as specifically 'Concordian'. My own answer would be 'yes' and two qualities immediately spring to mind. One certainly has to be an individual and collective instinct to excel despite modest material resources. Concordia, like its founding components Loyola and Sir George Williams, has historically been one of the most under-financed institutions in the country.

Another quality would have to be an abiding sense of cooperation and compromise as members of two celebrated and distinct academic communities come together to make an exciting and enduring new university. And out of the second comes a third quality: a capacity to innovate and adapt to new and challenging circumstances. Graduates of Concordia's new colleges perhaps know this better than others but change to a greater or lesser degree has been a feature across the faculties as the university continued to adjust to emerging realities.

These features might be summarized as resourcefulness, a word that carries special meaning to graduates who have pursued degrees on a part-time basis. For many in this group, life has been a continuing juggling act as academic work competed for time with family and work commitments.

Like graduates of other universities, Concordia's can claim to have pursued excellence in the classroom and on the playing field. But to that, they can justifiably add the credential of resourcefulness. And clearly society needs people who can grasp situations and respond to them in imaginative ways. Graduates of past years have proven this in a variety of fields - in government, in the professions, in industry and in the arts. I refer to the men and women who now look at their old yearbooks with the astonished glances I suggest you will one day give to the words and photographs contained in this edition.

Resourcefulness has more immediate dimension for many of you. It hardly needs to be said that these are difficult times; economic conditions offer reduced employment opportunities and those of you venturing into the work place for the first time will experience special demands on your capacity to be resourceful.

It is my belief that your years at Concordia have given you a head start and if the record is any indication, you will use it well. To all of you, congratulations and good luck.

Garnet Key Society

WHAT IS THE GARNET KEY SOCIETY?

Have you ever wondered what goes on behind the door of room H-730-1 (just behind "Reggies")? Or what those students dressed in garnet coloured skirts and white blazers (or garnet blazers and grey pants - depending on your persuasion) do for the University? No, we are not Air Canada flight attendants on campus recruiting, rather we represent the Concordia Garnet Key Society.

Members of the Garnet Key Society act as official hosts and hostesses of the university. What exactly does this involve? Our society is not CUSA subsidized, but subsidized by the faculty of the university, specifically reporting to Vice-Rector, Graham Martin. This means that the members are not elected by the student body, but rather are chosen by a selection committee on the basis of personality, academic standing and other relevant criteria decided upon by the committee. Both campuses and all faculties are represented in the society, ensuring a diverse membership.

We attend staff and faculty functions such as: the Long Service Awards; Convocations; and the Rector's receptions, to name but a few. Our main duties involve mingling and talking to prominent members of the university and business community, discussing the University and its functions.

Valuable experience is gained in public relations and all members benefit from the experience of being a member of the Garnet Key Society.

Sale of Canadian artwork sponsored by the Alumni Association

The Association of Alumni of Sir George Williams continues to play an active role in the life of Concordia University. By communicating with alumni through the "Concordia University Magazine" and by sponsoring social functions and reunions throughout the year it preserves the fellowship of graduates and perpetuates the link with the new university. The association has recently expanded its activities by establishing chapters in various cities in Canada, the U.S. and overseas.

They're at it again. It always sounds like applause at first. (did I ever tell you I played concert piano when I was just a slip?) but the flapping, John, the flapping on the fire-escape, turned on the lamp (did you notice?) that always stops them, but I'll have to sleep with the lights on now, never used to be like this, John I went about my business nothing gave me any trouble and I shan't cause you any, John, but the lock downstairs on the mailbox who's been tampering? what DO they want? the lights are rather dim down there, seems it was brighter before; my husband was a cautious man he would have made sure everything was in order, I don't remember him mentioning those lights and I know what you're thinking, an old lady's eyes ... well that is not the case. certainly not. I only wish they'd stop circling; frightens me they come so close; they watch ... you'll see about the lock won't you. John?

The Thursday Report

Concordia In Colombia

During the summer of 1980 Professors J.A. Macaluso and J. Pratt (Department of Modern Languages and Linguistics) conducted a four-week summer session in Colombia, South America. They were accompanied by twenty-eight students who desired to learn the language, culture and history in the 'milieu de vie'. This project offered them the opportunity to experience Colombia's past and present.

This is the state of man: today he puts forth

The tender leaves of hope, to morrow blussoms

And bears his blushing honour; thick upon him.

Celanese established its roots in Drummondville, Quebec, we've spread into other locations in the Province and branched out into the province and branched out into distant parts of Canada.

Today, from our Head Office in Montreal, we direct the activities of eight manufacturing plants; four of which are located in Quebec.

From our modest beginning, we've turned into a four hundred million dollar Company and we're not through yet

Our products are seen and used every day – you may drive on tires reinforced with our polyester cord, wear Fortrel polyester blouses or slacks, walk on Celanese carpets, sleep between Fortrel polyester sheets or use our industrial chemicals in a variety of products from paints to windshield washers.

Yes, we're here and we're still growing - with Quebec

THE POWER TO HEAL

The Wellcome Foundation Ltd., of which we are one of the worldwide constituents, is an organization without parallel in the pharmaceutical industry.

The Wellcome Trust has donated well over one and one half million dollars to medical schools and libraries throughout Canada.

The energies and resources of the Foundation are channeled into the Wellcome Trust, set up exclusively to fund and advance research in medicine and allied sciences. We are proud to say: "Research is our only stockholder."

Our symbol, the unicorn, is linked to the power to heal and cure. The advancement of medicine and the detection, prevention and cure of disease is our high goal, as it is yours.
